Hi I am Kanika Agrawal I am a visual communication designer who loves exploring branding, packaging, and logo design. I am curious about what goes into building a brand, from its story and personality to the little details that make it stand out. I love taking an idea and exploring how far I can take it, experimenting with color's, typography, and visuals along the way. For me the best part of design is diving deeper into a concept and turning it into something that feels unique and truly its own.

Extra Curricular

I have actively participated in a state-level art competition, where I explored my creativity and showcased my artistic skills. Along with this, I took part in a photography session focused on mobile photography. This experience helped me understand camera basics, framing, and lighting techniques, giving me practical, hands-on learning. These activities have strengthened both my artistic eye and technical understanding.

Education Summary

I have completed my 12th standard with a 78% score from Sophia College.

I am currently studying Visual Communication at École Intuit Lab
